

UF Alert Summary & After Action Report

2016

Overview

The University of Florida (UF) strives to provide an effective emergency notification and timely warning system for students, faculty, staff and visitors. The system, branded as UF Alert, is consistently reviewed and measured for performance. When a significant emergency or dangerous situation is immediately occurring or threatening the health and safety of Campus, an emergency notification is issued. A timely warning is sent when the incident represents a serious or continuing, but not immediate, threat to students and or employees. Messages are triggered by reports or confirmations of incidents within the University’s Clery Act defined geography. Generally, these boundaries include “reasonably contiguous” areas of Campus as well as public sidewalks, streets and opposite sidewalks along the Campus borders.

UF Alert services four specific areas:

- System-wide – The UF Alert-Systemwide service area provides notification to all locations regarding significant impacts to University operations or schedules.
- Gainesville – The UF Alert-Gainesville service area includes the University campus as well as other Gainesville facilities such as East Campus.
- Shands – The UF Alert-Shands service area comprises the UF Health Shands Hospital complex on and adjacent to the University.
- Lake Nona - The UF Alert-Lake Nona service area covers the UF Lake Nona Research & Academic Center Facility near Orlando, Florida.

This document contains a summary of notification activity for the 2016 calendar year as well as results from the annual UF Alert test. Additionally, Attachment 1 includes full message contents from all 2016 UF Alerts.

UF Alert Users Training

Users of the UF Alert system, who are authorized to send messages, are provided regular education and training opportunities. For University Relations, UF Department of Emergency Management (UFDEM) conducts training on a quarterly basis, requiring users to log-in and initiate a test message from the InformaCast portal. University of Florida Police Police Communications Operators (PCOs) complete a monthly test administrated by the Police Communications Manager. PCOs must demonstrate proficiency on InformaCast as well as Blackboard Connect. All new operators are presented with an overview training, outlining the UF Alert program and specific details of sending a message. Following an actual UF Alert, the sending PCO is provided with a written quality assurance review of performance and message wording. The purpose of the regular testing and training is to address and improve the human component behind commencing an emergency notification. UF Health at Shands Hospital and Lake Nona Research and Academic Center are responsible for training authorized senders for UF Alert-Shands and UF Alert-Lake Nona, respectively.

UF Alert Annual Test Results

In accordance with UF’s Annual Security and Fire Safety Report, Together for a Safe Campus, as well as the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, a coordinated test of the UF Alert system was conducted during the fall semester. The announced test occurred on November 17th and activated each notification method – text messaging, email, VoIP mass notification, social media, web and RSS. The test message was sent via the integrated InformaCast portal. Specifically, this test activated messages directed to subscribers of “UF Alert-Gainesville.” A UFPD PCO initiated the message, including recording the audio portion.

SMS/Text Messaging

Text messaging is sent through an interface with the University’s vendor, Blackboard Connect. The system attempted to deliver to 64,466 contacts. The text was initiated at 11:48AM and completed by 12:08PM. Ninety-three percent (93%), or 59,824 devices, were successfully reached by the message. The majority of the seven (7%) of the individuals who did not receive the message have either opted out of receiving texts from Blackboard or have entered an invalid telephone number in the MyUFL emergency contact registry. This performance is in line with previous year, as depicted in Table 2. A detailed report of the delivery results is provided in Table 3 below.

Table 2: Annual Test Performance Comparison of Text Message Device Deliveries

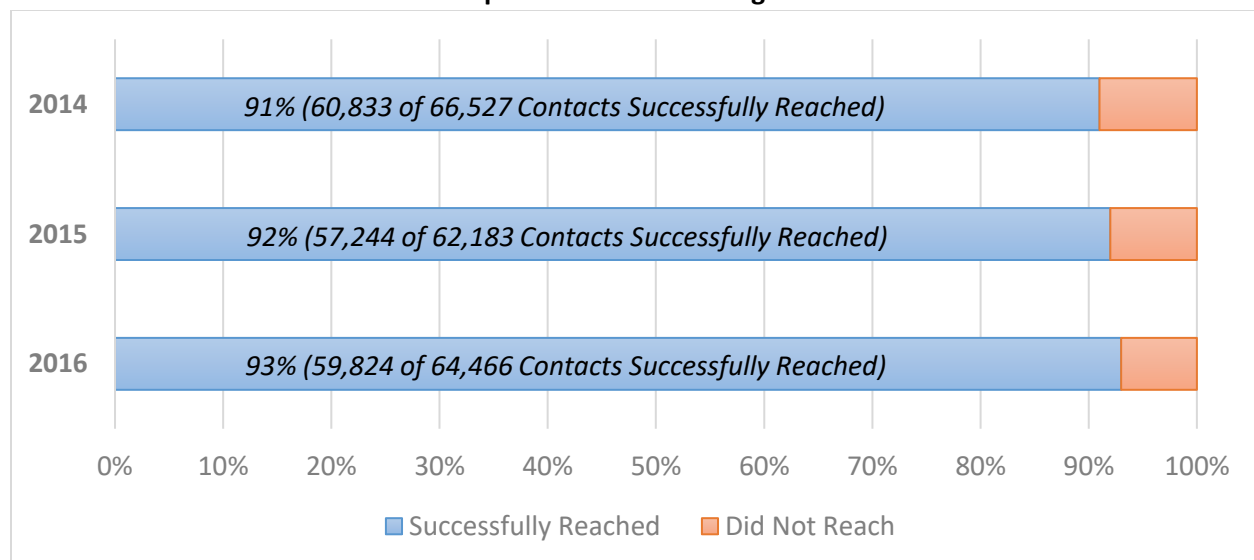

Table 3: SMS/Text Message Detailed Delivery Rates

	Number of Contacts	Percentage of Total

Email

For the second straight year, performance demonstrated an ability to rapidly send emails. Over ninety-nine percent (99%), or 65,003 of 65,124, of the emails were delivered by the end of the first minute. Table 4 compares email delivery execution against recent annual tests.

VoIP Mass Notification

A test audio and text message was sent to IP devices (telephones and speakers) maintained by all three campus providers: Information and Communication Technology (ICT), Academic Health Center (AHC)-HealthNet and Housing & Residence Education. At the time of the test, UF maintained over 16,000 IP devices connected to the InformaCast system.

Social Media

The test message successfully posted to the UF Alert Facebook account (www.facebook.com/ufalert) as well as Twitter accounts for UF Alert (@ufalert) and the University of Florida (@uf). UF Alert currently has 7,194 followers on Twitter and 4,307 likes on Facebook.

GatorSafe App

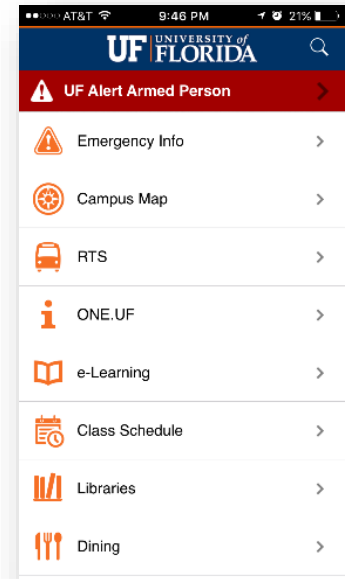

Those with Android version of the GatorSafe App received a push notification of the test message. However, the push notification certificate had not been renewed with Apple preventing the message from reaching those with iOS devices. The issue was immediately corrected with the assistance of the vendor, AppArmor, and a process put in place by UFIT to prevent future certificate lapses.

Web

The message effectively posted on the UF homepage (www.ufl.edu) during the test. The University's homepage provides an easily available outlet for those internal or external to the institution to view UF Alerts. Additionally, the test appeared on the University's mobile web application (m.ufl.edu) as well as the native University of Florida apps for iPhone and Android phones.

RSS

An RSS (Real Simple Syndication) feed was created when the test message was initiated, as is the case with all UF Alerts. These feeds allow anyone with a third-party RSS reader, such as Microsoft Outlook or most web browsers, to receive UF Alert messages.

Areas for Improvement

The University efforts to improve the emergency notification process and evaluation performance following each UF Alert activation. Enhancement, both technical and training, are continually occurring. From the 2016 exercise, two areas were noted for improvement:

Issue – iOS versions of the GatorSafe App did not receive a push notification of the test message due to expiration of the Apple certificate.

Status – The certificate has been renewed and is working properly. AppArmor and UFIT have established a process to renew the certificate on June 1st of each year.

Issue – Successful InformaCast delivery rates to IP devices for AHC-HealthNet are below desired performance levels

Status – AHC-HealthNet is working with Singlewire to improve performance. Actual device activation results are believed to be higher than performance reporting logs from InformaCast due to a technical issue.

Issue – Housing and Residence Education IP devices did not activate during the test.

Status – Housing and Residence Education upgraded to latest version of InformaCast and reconfigured distribution groups, resulting in successful deliveries of UF Alert messages since the November test.

UF Alert Program Goals and Successes

Several long-term goals are in place to drive enhancements and the future direction of the University's emergency notification program. These aspirations are primarily developed and carried out through the UF Alert Working Group. The Department of Emergency Management coordinates the group, which normally meets on a monthly basis. Below are the desired improvements over the next five-year period as well as recently completed goals:

- Inclusion of Shands employees (completed) – UF Alert-Shands launched in 2016, serving the UF Health at Shands Hospital area. Identity and Access Management changes were completed, allowing Shands employees to receive any desired UF Alert location notifications and UF students and employees are able to participate in UF Alert-Shands.
- Continued formalization of UF Alert-Lake Nona (completed) – In 2016, Lake Nona completed a second annual test of their emergency notification system and issued notifications for Hurricane Matthew. The program is considered operational.
- Evaluation of WEBS Talk-A-Phone (completed) – In 2015 and 2016, UF installed six Talk-A-Phone (blue light) towers with Wide-Area Emergency Broadcast System (WEBS) which feature speakers for outdoor notifications. The units have met performance expectations and future installation locations are being determined.
- Development of IP device maintenance plan (on-going) – With the allocation of UF Alert-specific funding during FY 2016/2017, a programmatic maintenance plan is being implemented with UFIT to proactively address UF Alert VoIP telephones and speakers installed in academic classrooms, class laboratories and other student-focused areas.
- Integration of UF Alert-Jacksonville (on-going) – The emergency notification system for the UF Health Science Center in Jacksonville is not incorporated into the UF Alert program. Ideally the systems would share the same Identity and Access Management process for subscribing as well as branding and notification methods.
- Review of SMS/Text Messaging (on-going) – In calendar 2017, an evaluation and potential procurement of SMS/text messaging vendors will be conducted. The review will consider speed of delivery, costs, usability, customer server and integration with other UF Alert components.
